

January 2026 Prayer Guide

Monday prayer points: Scholars

- Praise God for Liz and Malcolm McGregor's faithful service as Scholar Care Coordinators for a number of years. Please pray that they will enjoy their retirement and know God's blessing.
- Pray for Mia Gener, based in the Philippines, who plays a vital role as Administrative Assistant for the Langham Scholars programme. Pray that God will help Mia to manage her many tasks well.
- Pray for Junette Galagala-Nacion, from the Philippines, who is studying for a PhD in Edinburgh. Pray for continued good progress on her thesis, on the topic of Christian identity.
- Give thanks to God for Myrto Theocharous, a Langham Graduate, who is now a professor at the Greek Bible College and also serves vulnerable women in Athens. Please pray for Myrto as she puts her theology into practice, bringing light in desperately dark situations.

Tuesday prayer points: Preaching

- Pray for Dionisio Orjuela, who is the global coordinator for small preaching groups. Pray for strength for Dionisio in this strategic role, as preaching groups are foundational to the programme.
- Please pray that a Preaching Movement would be established in El Salvador. It's expected that the first training seminar will take place this quarter. Pray for the Lord's will to be done!
- Pray for our brothers and sisters in Nicaragua, who are living in an environment of uncertainty and instability. Pray that Langham-trained preachers there will be salt and light, encouraging the Church with God's Word.
- Praise God for those working on our 'Langham Connect' project. Each continental team has members involved who are working together with other continents to provide resources to help people to teach and train. Pray for those in the teams that are committed to training facilitators who in turn can train others.

Wednesday prayer points: Literature

- Pray for the impact of recently published book, 'Light in the valley of the shadow of death', a collection of twelve stories by Ukrainian Christians from different spheres of life. They share responses to the challenges of war and give testimony to the light and healing they have encountered. The book was edited by Langham's Roman Soloviy.
- Give thanks to God for Dr Hani Hanna, based in Egypt, who is the Director of the Langham Literature programme. Pray for good health, wisdom and guidance as he leads this enormous ministry for God's glory!
- Keep praying for the revised edition of the Africa Bible Commentary, which was finally released globally in November. After a delay, thousands of copies arrived at the LSC in Carlisle to be shipped to Africa and elsewhere. Praise God for this milestone and pray that many believers will use and be blessed by this new resource.

- Pray for Mark Arnold, Langham Publishing's Editorial and Contracts Coordinator, as over 50 books are published by Langham each year. Pray for stamina and perseverance for Mark.

Thursday prayer points: UK and Ireland

- In March (21st) supporters in the UK and Ireland are being invited to visit the Langham Service Centre for an exciting day to see some of Langham's ministry "up close", speak to staff and share fellowship together. Please pray that many people will attend and be encouraged and inspired.
- Three new staff members start working with LPUKI this month, in the areas of fundraising, social media and youth engagement. Please pray that they will know the Lord's blessing as they settle into their new roles and get to know the team.
- Pray for Simon Foulds, that God will give him strength and energy in his role as Supporter Development Manager for LPUKI.

Friday prayer points: International

- As a new year starts, wars continue to rage in different parts of the world, where our Langham family live and serve. Please pray again for God's grace and comfort and for His people in these places.
- Please continue to pray for our International Director Riad Kassis as he humbly heads up Langham. Pray for wisdom as he makes decisions, energy and much patience.

Saturday & Sunday prayer points

- As a new year begins, please join with us in praying that all Langham staff around the world will know the Lord's guidance and leading as they step into 2026.
- Pray that a new generation of Bible-believing Christians will catch the vision of Langham and understand the significance of its strategic ministries. Pray that God will further our fundraising efforts and expand the work we're able to do on the ground.
